"...For the first time I now looked to see what sustained my body, and I found that it was but a purple tinted cloud, and that as I desired to go onward with my guide, the cloud appeared as if disturbed by a gentle breeze, and in its movements I found I was wafted upward until I saw the earth, as a vision, far, far below us...."Daniel Dunglas Home (1833 - 1886) was a Scottish physical medium with the reported ability to levitate to a variety of heights, speak with the dead, and to produce rapping and knocks in houses at will. His biographer Peter Lamont opines that he was one of the most famous men of his era. Harry Houdini described him as "one of the most conspicuous and lauded of his type and generation" and "the forerunner of the mediums whose forte is fleecing by presuming on the credulity of the public."Home conducted hundreds of séances, which were attended by many eminent Victorians.In 1864, Home published "Incidents In My Life". This book is an Autobiography of this well-known 'Spirit Medium,' and contains his own account of the manifestations termed 'Spiritual Phenomena,' which have occurred to him from his earliest infancy, commencing by the rocking of his cradle, and increasing in power and frequency until the present time. The secondary purpose of the volume is to relate how these unaccountable manifestations have during some years past made Mr. HOME a frequent guest at many a Continental Court, as well as the personal friend of many an Emperor and King. The memoirs are written with great plainness of diction and apparent truthfulness; although the occurrences narrated are not likely to be believed by those persons who regard 'spiritual manifestations' as delusion or imposture. Many of the events related certainly transcend ordinary experience and general belief; but they are described with an air of truth and an attention to minute details which leave a strong impression of the writer's good faith on the mind of the reader. The account given by Mr. HOME of his feelings during his fits of ecstasy will, it is believed, yield matter of interest to the student of psychology, since it affords an insight not hitherto obtained into the operation of the mind when actively excited. The INTRODUCTION, is written by a friend of the Author.
